Lesson Outline – 1. The Christian – God's Passession. I Cor. 6:20. 2. In the World, but Not of the World. John 17:15. 3. Ambassadors for Christ. II Cor. 5:20. 4. Active Reformers Isa. 58:12. 5. Christian Methods of Reform. II Cor. 10:4. 6. The Blessed Hope. Titus 2:12,13.
Paul declares "For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body and in your spirit, which are God's." "O that we might comprehend more fully the infinite price that has been paid for our redemption, for the price paid is nothing less than the life of the only – begotten Son of God. Let us all coniser this. We may refuse the invitations that Christ sends to us; we may neglect His offer of pardon and peace; but still it remains a fact that everyone of us has been bought with a price even with the precious blood of the Son of God." Selected Messages, Bk. 1 pg. 100.

Paul in writing to Titus says, "Teaching us that denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly , righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ." Titus 2:12,13.

Read A Youth Success Story

The Baptist youth of Appomattox county planned a Youth Rally for Sat., March 13, at 7:30 p.m. at Liberty Baptist Church. The plans for the evening included a drama "Who Cares, Anyway?" by the youth of Liberty Baptist Church, skits by eight churches in the Association, followed by a "Coffee House" experience group from Richmond.
Plans were made for about 100 people, but 342 young people came to participate in the rally.
Youth responded to this program and had a great refreshing experience with other youths who really love Jesus and want others to know about Him.
Youth are on the March to tell the world about Jesus! Join in and back them with your prayers!

TRIBUTE TO REVOLUTIONARY HERO Peter Francisco Day

Peter Francisco is honored, a few people remember stories about the legendary Virginia strongman and military hero.
Few know that he spent the early years of his life in what is now Appomattox County. During his residence from 1823 to 1831, that part of Buckingham, for which Appomattox County was not formed until 1845.
Francisco is receiving public recognition in many parts of Virginia next week because Governor Holton has proclaimed March 15 Peter Francisco Day, Virginia is a bit late in honoring her hero and adopted son as Massachussetts and Rhode Island, where Peter Francisco never set foot, have made designation for several years.
March 15 is the anniversary of the Battle of Guilford Court House in North Carolina, where Peter Francisco is said to have personally dispatched out of his life at least eleven British soldiers. He probably used five or six feet long that General George Washington had especially for him because an ordinary sword was a toy in his hands.
Francisco's fame as what is Appomattox County came later, however. His third child born to be married in 1823 was about 63 years old, and his son, Mary Beverly Grymes Peyton, a widow of Col. Robert Stanard, a close plantation friend. Included when now known as the "Peyton place" on Route 656 and the two north of Route 24. Peyton, a small boy in the home of his farm for a time. The Statham family lived there, but stories of Francisco and his fabulous exploits were told widely in the neighborhood.)
Mrs. Francisco was born in England. Daughter of Judge Randolph Grymes, she came to Virginia in her youth and lived with two of her brother. wealthy Tidewater family. She was Phillip Ludwell Grymes and the other was Mrs. Randolph, the Revolutionary statesman and Governor of Virginia.
In 1783 he married Robert Worcester County, who probably been married previously. Six years later they moved to what was then western Buckingham County and bought 1500 acres which, according to tax records in the Virginia Archives, were located on the Appomattox River about 26 miles west of Buckingham Court House. Col. West also bought a mill and 50 surrounding acres on Elk Creek, a designation which at that time applied to North's Creek as well as Phelps' Branch.
Col. West did not live long on these lands, for he died in 1817. Six years later Mrs. West married Francisco, who was much older than she, and they lived on the estate left by her late husband. When this estate was divided in 1827, Mrs. Francisco received her dower portion of 486 acres plus, presumably, the mansion house and furniture. The house is not now standing; the present house on the road was built much later.
Francisco's origin is obscure, but he is thought to have been Portuguese. Abandoned at City Point (now Hopewell) in 1765, about five years old, he was bound to Judge Anthony Winston of Hunting Tower near New Store, Buckingham County, Winston was an uncle of Patrick Henry, and Peter grew up under influences that fanned the fires of freedom from English rule. He also grew tremendously large and strong; at 16 he was over six feet tall and weighed 260 pounds. Col. Robert Carrington included him among the lists of his plantation. Francisco was known as the "strongest man in the county."
Joining the Continental Army at 16, Francisco fought in many battles and distinguished himself for bravery, strength, and coolness in desperate situations. Washington once called him his "one-man regiment." He was wounded numerous times; once, while recovering, he is said to have formed a deep and lifelong friendship with the Marquis de Lafayette.
After the war he worked as a blacksmith and went to school at Joseph Curdy's place, later Curdsville. In 1785 he bought a farm in Charlotte County and lived there until 1791, when he bought 500 acres in Cumberland County across the Appomattox River from present Farmville (then Rutledge's Ford. In 1803 he moved to Prince Edward County for a year; then he went back to Buckingham where he spend the rest of his life, except for brief sojourns in Richmond. For several years he kept tavern, first in Prince Edward and then at New Store. He then bought Locust Grove on Payne Creek in eastern Buckingham County where he lived until about 1820.
Peter's first wife was Susannah Anderson of Cumberland, whom he married in 1784 or 1785. She died in 1820, and in 1794 he married her cousin, Catherine Brooke of Essex County. She died in 1832. He had a daughter and a son who survived infancy from the first marriage and two daughters and two sons from the second; both of these sons became doctors. There were no children from the third marriage.
Peter Francisco is best remembered for his tremendous strength. He is said to have carried an 1100-pound cannon on his back across a ford and under enemy fire; according to legend he pushed single-handed out of a mire a wagon loaded with tobacco that a six-horse team could not budge. The best-known story, which has many different versions, is supposed to have happened at New Store in 1806. A man from Kentucky came to fight Francisco, whom Peter first threw the man and then his horse over a four-foot fence. The man rode back to Kentucky, an all-the-wiser for fight gone.
One alleged episode may have taken place at the West plantation in present Appomattox County. A cow had a calf in a swamp and Francisco could not get them to come out. Finally he went in and, with the calf under one arm and the cow under the other, brought them out.
It is impossible to determine the truth or falsity of these and many other such stories today.
A year after his marriage to Mrs. West, Peter rode horseback to Yorktown to see Lafayette, who was touring the United States in 1824. He was warmly greeted, according to report, and was a part of Lafayett'es escort to Williamsburg, Richmond, and Petersburg.
Tradition says that Mrs. West did not like the country and that Peter bought a house in Richmond. There is no evidence that he did; tax records show him a Buckingham resident until his death, and the ocasus of 1830 shows him and his family living in that area of the county now Appomattox. He was elected Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Delegates in 1825, and undoubtedly he and his wife spent the legislative sessions, and perhaps other times as well, in Richmond.
Francisco died in Richmond on January 16, 1831, while the General Assembly was in session. Both Houses adjourned out of respect, and Bishop Moore conducted his funeral in the House chamber of the State Capitol. In the procession were the House of Delegates, the Senate, Governor Floyd, the Mayor of Richmond, other State and City dignitaries, and several units of the Richmond Guard. Burial, at State expense, was in Shockoe Cemetery, Richmond, with full military and Masonic honors. Some years later the Daughters of the American Revolution erected a simple granite shaft over his grave.
Mrs. Francisco did not remain in Buckingham after her husband's death. As late as 1853 she was living in Botetourt County.
The proclamation of Governor Holton honoring Francisco was a result of efforts of the James Allen Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, of Nottoway County, and other interested people. It reads as follows:
"Peter Francisco Day"
"At the age of sixteen, Peter Francisco, a young boy of Portuguese origin, enlisted in the Continental Army to help in America's fight for freedom. His staunch patriotism and fortitude earned him great respect and gratitude.
"After the war, he remained in the service of his country as Sergeant-at-Arms in the House of Delegates of The Virginia General Assembly and continued his active support of the weak and unprotected.
"March 15, 1971, has been designated Peter Francisco Day in tribute to this American patriot of Portuguese descent, and I call its significance to the attention of all Virginians.
"Linwood Holton
"Governor
"February 17, 1971"

IFYE Host Families Needed

By: Rebecca McGeorge, Extension Agent

Just imagine, this summer a young person from another country could live with your family for two weeks. Think of all the fun you could have learning the customs of another country. It's the next best thing to visiting a foreign country.
How is all this possible? The answer is being a host family for an IFYE (International Farm Youth Exchange) delegate.
Each year young people from other countries visit the United States for six months as part of the International Farm Youth Exchange program sponsored by the National 4-H Foundation in close cooperation with the Federal Extension Service. The IFYE program was established to help foster closer and better understanding among the countries of the world. What better way to learn about another country than to live with a typical average family.
How do you qualify to be a host family or an IF visitor? If you're an average family, active in community life, are sincerely interested in young people and have an extra bed you probably qualify. It's helpful, but not necessary, if someone in the family is about the same age as the IFYE. The IFYE has to be treated as a member of the family, sharing in family work as well as recreation, in order to learn about our culture.
Contact your local County Extension Office for more information on the IFYE program and how you can be a host family. Our telephone number is 352-2364. Jim Smith, G. L. James, Jesse Ford, Becky McGeorge, or Lelia Mayton, Extension Agents, can tell you more about the program.
